Dear Employees of Quattlebaum, Groom, Tull & Burrow,

Since returning from sick leave all I have heard is “Miss Lou, you missed the best Christmas Party ever.” I really regret not being able to attend. You can not imagine how much our consumers look forward to your coming with Santa. From the day we ask them to list what they would wish for until the actual party they are excited. Your thoughtfulness and generosity toward our special individuals is always appreciated by everyone. Having your employees interact with the consumers makes the event even more special for everyone.

The staff is always happy to have some extra supplies to work with in the classrooms. Your extra items for the Center are appreciated by all of us. They all enjoy time spent on arts and crafts and seeing the classrooms decorated.

Needless to say the staff all appreciated being included, Thank you. Many people always think of doing extra things for children at Christmas and it is nice. May all of you be blessed for taking the time to learn of the joy that also come in sharing with disable adults, whose spirit will always be young.

Sincerely,

Lou Johnston
